

ANIMAL LAW

Animals are innocent and mute creatures, but when they come into contact of human beings, human beings are must to behave in appropriate manner. India has incorporated laws to prevent the cruelties of animals, it is a punishable offence to cause pain, killing, poisoning, maiming or torturing of animal. The Wildlife Protection Act, 1972 prohibits teasing, molesting, injuring, feeding or causing disturbance to any animal and the same is a punishable offence.

The Firm provides legal assistance and represents its clients in legal proceedings for the offences against animals. The Firm also provides legal assistance to animal welfare societies to conduct awareness programs and appears on their behalf before appropriate Court of law.
