

PRIVATE EQUITY & VENTURE CAPITAL

In a variety of industries, including agriculture, broadcasting and news media, e-commerce, education, energy (solar, wind, conventional, and nuclear), financial services, food and beverage, healthcare, infrastructure, insurance, real estate, retail, and sports, the Firm has worked on many of the complex and trend-setting transactions.

For this practise, we employ a flexible strategy and lean on the power of our other practises. This strategy has enabled us to swiftly and effectively complete even the most complex transactions while assisting our clients throughout the entire investment life cycle, from fund formation to exit and all in between.

Onshore and offshore structuring, share subscriptions, finance, exit plans, regulatory concerns, and due diligence are just a few of the interdisciplinary topics the team expertly advises on.

The investment policies have been liberalized, which has increased investor confidence and made it easier to do business in the startup economy. India has thus become a popular investment destination and source for both domestic and foreign investors. India has observed a growth in the flow of cash into various corporate sectors in return for equity. India has grown along with the world economy and is now a significant player in the startup environment. Through private equity ("PE") and venture capital ("VC") vehicles, funding is injected into the startup ecosystem.

Leglux Law has accumulated extensive knowledge working with clients involved in PE and VC transactions. Our broad industry expertise in a range of industries and experiences help customers by assisting in the provision of strategies with diverse elements that greatly contribute to the success of the transaction and the achievement of our clients' commercial concerns. Our PE and VC transactional services are managed by highly skilled solicitors who bring their specialized breadth of legal knowledge to meet the demands of our clients. In order to successfully and quickly close PE and VC transactions in the interests of all parties, we deal in-depth with transactional subtleties and attend to our customers' demands from a legal-regulatory and strategic viewpoint. Among Indian legal firms specializing in venture capital and private equity, Leglux stands out. With our headquarters in Delhi NCR and a presence across all of India, we cater to both domestic and foreign clientele.
